This industry represents an $18 billion turnover per year and more than $3 billion investment.

"Southern France is the first place I would think of to start a company for many reasons : a lot of government support and financial incentives, a hub for four major areas in medicine (immunology, oncology, neuroscience, rare diseases), a unique and supportive ecosystem to launch and establish a company."

ANANYA MITRA, Head of Scientific Operations based in San Francisco at Neuroservice, France, Marseille- June 2017.
